

Erasmus Academy Summer Language Program 2017

Classical Greek Online May 22 – July 13, 2017

Purpose

This intensive course is designed for graduate students preparing to take the Greek proficiency exam for masters and PhD programs, and for any other college student, adult or motivated high school student desiring to read in the language. It provides a thorough presentation of classical (Attic) grammar and introduces the student to standard Greek prose, with an emphasis on reading and translation. No previous knowledge of the language is required. The objective of the course, approximating a full year of university instruction, is to bring the student to an intermediate reading level, preparing him or her to enter a second year college Greek course.

Course Structure

As a distance learning course, students may take this class from any location or from the convenience of their home. They will need to have access to the Internet and to a telephone line. The course meets in “real time” and participants are expected to attend all the scheduled sessions. Each student participates fully in each class by listening and speaking, translating and posing questions. Assignments are emailed to the Instructor. The 8-week course meets two times a week (Mondays & Thursdays), 6:15pm-9:15pm EST; it comprises 48 hours of instruction. Each 3-hour session includes grammar, strategies for analyzing Greek sentences, vocabulary & verb review, sight-reading, and quizzes. Presuming 4 hours of outside preparation for each hour in class, 30 hours (6 + 24) a week should be available for study. In the latter half of the course, participants have the opportunity of translating additional texts in their area of study.

Required Textbook

From Alpha to Omega, fourth edition, by Anne H. Groton. ISBN: 978-1-58510-391-1.

Background of Instructor

Dr. Kristina Chew received her BA in Classics from Princeton University (1990) and her Ph.D. from Yale University in 1995. She has extensive teaching experience in Greek and Latin languages as well as in classical civilization courses. She was an Assistant Professor of Classics at the University of St. Thomas, St. Paul, MN (2001-2005) and Associate Professor of Classics (with tenure) at Saint Peter’s University, Jersey City, NJ (2005-2014). She is now an Instructor in the Department of Classics at Rutgers University. Courses she has taught include Archaeology of Ancient Greece, Classics & Film, Sports & Athletes in the Ancient World, Greek Tragedy, and Medical Terminology. Her student evaluations consistently attest to her popularity and dedication to her students.

Registration, Course Fee and Refund Policy

The fee for the Classical Greek course is $950. Please complete the Application for Enrollment form above and submit it, together with the non-refundable deposit of $75, by May 1, 2017. This reserves for you a place in the course. You may download the Enrollment form, complete, scan and return by email attachment as indicated below.

Payments may be made online, on the website. If you prefer mailing the Enrollment form and deposit of $75, please do so using the Brooklyn, NY address below. Make checks payable to Erasmus Academy, and enter language in the memo line. The balance of $875 is due on May 1, 2017. There is an “Early Bird” registration option. If the full payment is made by March 1, 2017, the fee for the course is $850. This option is found on the website’s Quick Shopping Cart.

If, after the first two weeks, a student wishes to discontinue the course, a letter to this effect must be received by the Erasmus Academy Office by 4:00 pm EST on Friday, June 2, 2017. Thereupon, a refund of $875 will be returned to the student ($775 for Early Bird registrants).
